

His Wings Ranch

Empowering Special
Needs Kids
& Their Families

Why Do We Exist?

We exist to keep special needs kids and their families together to help these children achieve their God given potential.

Living in poverty in Baja, Mexico and also having a physical or mental shortcoming can be insurmountable for kids and their families. Without assistance, medically fragile kids with cerebral palsy, down syndrome and autism can become separated from their families.

What Do We Do

His Wings provides resources to give the kids and their families an opportunity to help themselves through:

- Wheelchairs and braces
- Physical and behavioral therapy
- Special education
- Housing and food to stabilize families
- Medical assistance for live changing surgeries

Where are We?

His Wings Ranch is located in Baja, Mexico Just 90 Miles South of the Border in the town of Maneadero.

Who Are We

Sue Fasino and her husband Juan started His Wings Ranch in 2020 after Sue spent 20+ years serving kids with special needs at other ministries in Mexico. Sue saw a need to keep kids with special needs together with their families to receive support and care. Sue and Juan are all in. They have bet their lives, career, finances and future on fulfilling God's promise to the kids in need in the Maneadero, Baja area.

Why Horses ?

Horses provide therapy for special needs kids. Kids with physical disabilities benefit from natural movement of their bodies, something they can experience on the back of a horse.

Kids with emotional and social challenges like the autistic find stability through bonding with animals which leads them to manage their emotions and relate better with people.

Why Education

Special needs kids are not accommodated for in Mexican public schools that are struggling to serve the able bodied kids. They don't have wheelchair ramps much less special education experts to reach special needs kids. His Wings Ranch not only serves these kids but there siblings who also don't go to the public schools. His Wings has 5 Classroom buildings to educate these kids.

Traditional Therapy

Horses are not the only, nor main method of providing therapy for the kids. His Wings provides primarily physical therapy and behavioral therapy and well as speech and occupational therapy.

Accessible Playground

Kids in wheelchairs want to swing just like every other kids and when they do they benefit from physical changes to balance and coordination and strength all in a fun and natural environment with other kids.

Wheelchairs & Braces

We provide kids with wheelchairs, arm braces and walkers throughout their development. We have a wheelchair workshop which allows us to repair and repurpose chairs and braces to meet the needs of the kids.

Family Assistance

We provide family assistance so parents can support their own children. Keeping families with special needs kids together is our calling. We assist by helping establish basic housing, providing food and supplies and coordinating daycare so parents can work. We also offer a youth center where adolescent kids can connect with one another in a healthy and safe social environment after school

Specialist Referrals

Luis was dealt a tough hand. His spine is so twisted that he is forced to hunch over and stands just over 3 feet tall at age 12. We applied for a life transforming surgery for him through Shriners hospital's in Chicago. If Accepted we will pay for his Visa and coordinate International transportation and lodging for he and a parent.
